o do with them.
Delfaney throws with his right hand is a understood, for he wouldn't be a atcher if he heaved from the left side, here having been but one or two or hese currosities in the history of baseball. When asked how he hit, Delaney replied:

It sate.

He swings from the right side of the blate, and according to soldiers who have seen him smite the pill around forden, he should be able to do a little Gordon, he should be able to do a little swatting as a Tribesman this year. If he can make good at the second string job. Red Smith, late of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has been secured to do the backstopping for the Chicks and will be first string receiver, but he will be in need of a capable man to assist him when he has to lay off for any reason. The arrival of DeHaney makes two catchers now in the camp of the Tribe, Ellis having shown up two days ago. In addition to DeHaney, Earl Smith, a left-handed pitcher, and Ted Willis, an outfielder, reported this morning to Manager Barger. Both hall from Springfield, Mo., where they have been playing in the city league. Neither has had experience in professional base-ball. They worked out with the Tribe this afternoon.

Where Are Tribesmen?

President Watkins, of the Chicks, is adding gray hairs to his thatch right along these days because he can't get the Chicks he has signed to report at once, and also because he sees the need of some more good men to round out a good ball club. The Chicks are far from a formidable aggregation as they now stand, and it quite probable that Watkins will pack his duds and beat it to Gainesville, Fla., where the New York Glants are in training, and see if he can't prevail on John McGraw to turn loose some of his most promising material. The situation of the Chicks is a serious one, and unless some more players are secured, players who can make good in the Southern, who can hit the brand of pitching that will be offered and who can field along with the remaining fielders, the Tribe is going to get away to a bad start.

This is not said to crepe-hang, but because it is true. The Chicks have a big job, ahead of them in gutting to get away to a bad start.

ORGANIZED BALL'S CASE OUTLINED

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The case of organized baseball in the $900,000 damage suit brought by the Baltimore Federal league club against the National and American leagues was out lined yesterday to the jury hearing the case in the District of Columbia supreme court by George Wharton Pepper, of Philadelphia, counsel for the defendants.

per, of Philadelphia, counsel for the defendants.

The two older leagues, Mr. Pepper said in outlining the defense after the plaintiffs had rested their case, would attempt to disprove the contention of the Baltimore club that professional baseball as constituted during the lifetime of the Federal league was a monopoly within the meaning of the Sherman antitrust law.

The defendants, Mr. Pepper asserted, would seek first to prove that professional baseball was not an interstate industry, even though the players came from various states. The Sherman antitrust act, he said, covered only interstate industries and never was designed to apply to competing sporting organizations.

ASHVILLE, Tenn. April 3.

The fate of Sunday base-been brought up in the states of Kanball in Tennessee is soon sas, Missouri, Texas and New Mexico to be established. Follow- in each of these four states the courts The fate of Sunday bases ball in Termessee is soon to be established. Following the decision of the court of appeals, in which the charter of the Nashville baseball association, but prohibited the playing of baseball in Nashville on Sunday, counsel for the Vols took the matter up with officials of the league and decided to carry the matter to the supreme court. Accordingly, a petition of certiorari was filed with the supreme court. Accordingly, a petition of certiorari was filed with the supreme court of Tennessee under date of March 24, and a decision is expected the latter part of this week. In preparing the brief for the consideration of the state's highest tribunal of justice, Judge W. C. Cherry, altorney for the ball club, conferred with John D. Martin, of Memphis, president of the Sunday, and before leaving Tuesday night declared that he believed the court would find favorably for the ball club, in view of the fact that evidence conclusively shows that Sunday baseball is not lilegal under the existing statutes, and that the old "blue laws" of 1803 were drawn up long before the game of buseball was known. Back in 1850 Cromwell originated the English "blue laws" which have conducted on the Sabbath, and if strictly adhered to would mean that street cars would not run, that soda fountains could not run, that soda fountains could not be open that newboys and hootblacks would not he permitted to sell papers or shine shoes, and, in fact, no business shall be conducted on the Sabbath, and if strictly adhered to would mean that street cars would not run, that soda fountains could not be open, that newboys and hootblacks would not be permitted to sell papers or shine shoes, and, in fact, no business swall be conducted to would mean that street cars would not run, that soda fountains could not be open, that newboys and hootblacks would not be permitted to sell papers or shine shoes, and, in fact, no business shall be conducted to would mean that street cars would not run, that soda fountains could not be open, that charity excepted, by performing acts of labor or work on Sunday, he shall forfeit and pay $3.

Yet the courts of Karsas, Missour, Texas and New Moxico have ruled that these laws are not applicable to baseball, and that the pastime as conducted in America has arrived the remarkation. days, and are not a desecration of the Sabbath.

The court of civil appeals, in deciding the Nashville baseball case, refused to forfeit the charter of the club, and furthermore ruled that baseball was a clean and wholesome aport and conducive to the betterment of mind and morals of spectators and players. The local club, therefore, contained that the court of other states, in view of the strong evidence submitted in the brief, and it is probable that before another week passes the game of baseball to be a nulsance on Sunday and detrimental to the moral welfare of the community. The ruling, it is pointed out, is contained that the pastline as conducted in America has earned the reputation of being the cleanest sport existing. There is every reason to believe that the supreme court of Tennessee will look at the appeal in the same light as not the veck passes the game of baseball will be back on Sunday in Tennessee to furnish amusement to the thousands which would not otherwise have the benefit of wholesome recreation and entertainment.

Still Seek Wounded Soldiers As Umpires

President John D. Martin Expects to Secure Four Arbiters From Men of Thirtieth Division on Returning.

HE COMMENDABLE plan
of President John D. Martin, of the Southern association to give jobs as base umpires to four wounded soldiers may be realized within the ensuing couple of weeks, despite the fact that the project would have to be abandoused.

The return of the 36th division with hundreds of men, among them being quite a few men who formerly played basebail and who could easily qualify as base umpires in Dixle's major, has revived the sagging plan and President may be realized of the 36th to take jobs as handlers of the indicator in the Southern this year. With good pay and easy work, the league president feels confident that it will be an easy task to secure four men to decide plays that come up around the bases during this season's campaign in Dixle.

The league president has been figuring on having four wounded soldiers his umpires in the Southern for some time, and a short while ago ne signed George Harrison decided to enter basebail as the pay they have a many things now stand there is not a single wounded soldier lined up to umpire in the Southern this year, but as an umpire, but changed his mind.
